PRESIDENT'S REPORT

JUNE 2010

I'm now back after having a break. It was very enjoyable and I'm now ready to get back into routine.

Well members, we are now at the beginning of the flowering season and at the last club meeting you only had to look at the show bench to see the number of plants.

There is a lot on our program for the next few months and will require all members to help set things up so that the same people don't have to do everything.

The Munno Para winter show on the 10th of July is one of our major fundraisers and is totally sponsored by the shopping centre and with the generosity given by the management should be looked after.

A little later we will require members to supply cut spikes for the National Show in Perth. We would like you to bring them to Jeanne & Peter Hall's house at Glenelg North for packing for the state display being set up by our members who will be attending.

On our return from Perth we only have a short time before, once again, we are needed to do the spring show at West Lakes. Everyone should try to take part in this by joining in with someone else, if need be, to make a display.

This year we will be putting in at the garden show at Morphettville racecourse in October to push cymbidiums to the public.

It is a very full year and we can't rely on the same people all the time, so please put up your hand to help.

At the next meeting "Chucky" returns as our guest and will be talking and showing us just what happens in America at the Santa Barbara show, which is one of the biggest in the world.

Recently I purchased a couple of compots and was amazed at how good the roots were. They had been growing in pure Canunda shell and not a sign of black on the leaf tips. To prove it for yourself give it a try.

RAY BRADY PRESIDENT

2010 SAROC FAIR

The South Australian Regional Orchid Clubs annual show is on again. I have just loaded the van with only a couple of cymbidiums and a few bromeliad companion plants.

Jeanne has a new job and now works in the city. Jeanne walked down to Pultney Grammar School and I met her outside at 5.00pm on Friday 11 June 2010. Thanks to all our club members that brought plants in for our club display: Elmore and Pam Leske, Moss and Rosemary Bray, Brian and Shirley Brand, John Nicholls, Murray Western and Les Nesbit; and of course, our display guru, Ben Knobben. Ben always sets up an excellent display.

Jeanne and I always look forward to the SAROC Fair for many reasons; we catch up with all the people we know and see at all of these events; to look at all the displays and the different varieties of orchids; and of course, to purchase more orchids!

These shows would not be as good if it weren't for a great bunch of people who organise and run them. I really shouldn't name names but I will anyway and hope that I don't forget too many! The Show Marshall, Brian Heddle with help from Mary, Graham and Sue Zerbe, Geoff and Lucy Spear, Tony Bourne, the registrar of judges and judges, the canteen and BBQ people and many more that I don't know the names of.

We took the camera along on Saturday and Jeanne took a heap of photographs. I can recommend attending this show; it is one of our favourites. There were eleven displays: Orchidaceous, South Coast Orchid Club of SA

Once the spikes have shown comes the decision which ones this year will be our show plants for it is these plants that will command the most attention. These plants will all be treated differently according to spike habit, colour and even the size of the blooms. We will look at some these variables over the next few months and if I am lucky maybe some of our resident expert growers may pass on a few tips, HINT HINT

Others will just be happy to have them flower and that's what its all about. Also it's a good time to stock up on stakes and labels and not leave them until its too late. I'm guilty of this all the time. It's no use staking them two weeks before they open. By then the spike is a twisted mess. Show plants just don't grow that way. They are created. So keep searching for those new flower spikes. The real work is about to begin.

Steve Howard

SOUTH COAST ORCHID CLUB

Jeanne and I were invited to the South Coast Orchid Club on Wednesday 2 June 2010. We were guest presenters at their workshop meeting. We spoke and demonstrated the breaking up and repotting of cymbidium orchids. I initially wondered how I was going to last for 15 minutes (4 sessions @ 15 minutes per session), but I ran out of time. Jeanne was behind me tugging on my jacket because while answering questions, I stopped potting (I'm one that can't walk and chew gum at the same time!)

We had a good time and I could have taken a lot of the plants that were on display home; they were stunning.

The meeting was well planned and extremely well run. South Coast is a very good club.

Peter Hall

PS Jeanne asked Randall if he had enjoyed his time in Adelaide and he said that he had enjoyed his time here and that he liked Wayne and my company, he said it was like being in the company of an old married couple because we argue and take the mickey all the time!

Peter Hall

Cymplicity.

The next two months should see most if not all of our Cyms finally show flower spikes, but how do we tell.

Even the experts will get it wrong occasionally. Flower spikes tend to be a little more rounded particularly on the larger standards however the smaller cascading types throw spikes that start off remarkably like a new lead. The chances are that anything showing through over the next 8 weeks has a good chance of being a flower. A gentle squeeze at the top is a tried and proven test. If it is hollow at the top and solid near the bottom then that feels like a flower to me. Soft from top to bottom is more likely a lead.

Our feeding patterns change too with feeding going back to a nitrogenous feed or balanced feed. Watering too changes now as well. The cooler weather lessens evaporation so we water maybe once or twice a week depending on the weather. Keep water out of any new growths as they can rot off and if the rot gets into the main parts of the plant then the outlook is not good. The plant is usually pulled apart and the offending pieces removed and the plant treated with a fungicide. The plant can take quite some time to recover if it ever does after this treatment.

As the sun migrates north we increase our light intensity, as darkness is a prime reason we don't get our cyms to flower. Some houses are just in a bad position with neighbour's homes and trees causing problems. A change to a white shade cloth and maybe white marble on the floor can help and I have heard of people even using mirrors to direct light towards the plants.

Cover for our plants too becomes more of a priority as we want to keep our new leads dry, especially once the buds break away from the sheath.

Gawler Districts Orchid Club, Port Pirie Districts Orchid Club Inc, Murray Darling Orchid Club Inc, Sunraysia, Riverland Orchid Society, Mount Gambier Orchid Society, Port Augusta Orchid Club and Millicent Orchid Society. There were four sales areas: Moss Bray (cymbidium orchids), Les Nesbitt (multi-genera), Johnston's Orchids (multi-genera) and Steve Stebbing from Victoria (multi-genera).

I shall probably get into strife with my next comments. I have only been growing orchids for five minutes compared to most growers. I don't want to know about the politics of various clubs but I am disappointed that the Orchid Club of South Australia and the Murray Bridge Orchid Club do not participate in this show. I'm led to believe that there is bad blood which goes back many years and that is why these clubs do not participate. Why can't we all get along and be part of the orchid growing fraternity? Things that have happened so long ago should be forgotten and let's start afresh and make this June show bigger and better. The venue is excellent, it is central and parking is available along South Terrace. If you have never been to this show, put it into your calendar for next year.

I spoke to Brian Heddle on Monday and he told me that he and Mary didn't leave the show venue until after 7.00pm. They had to rearrange all of the desks in the hall and they were cleaning oil off the slate car park using a torch to see with. People with cars that leak oil should know that they do and leave their cars / vans in the street. Oil on slate is very slippery and that is a safety issue. If the car park is left with oil all over it, SAROC may have to look at not having the venue available in the future.

Guest Speaker for the July meeting

Members interested in miniature, intermediate and cascading cymbidiums should not miss this meeting. A relatively new kid on the block, Vitaly Kluchkovsky, from Melbourne, will address us & tell you about his passion about this style of cymbidium. Vitaly and his wife Noela have been into cymbidiums for a relatively short time. However in that time they have assembled some absolutely fabulous and exclusive parent plants and set up a laboratory in their home, and are offering flasks & small plants from a world leading breeding program, plants which will be in huge demand once they are known a little better. We are fortunate to have Vitaly come to address us. After this, he will be in demand, perhaps world wide. Vitaly will tell us about how he started, how it all evolved, the year by year highlights, and the launch of his breeding program. Beginners particularly should be motivated by what he has done in a relatively short time. Experienced growers will be amazed. Don't miss this opportunity. I think we will be unveiling a future star of the orchid breeding scene

Big news from Valley Orchids13

Some members will have heard the rumour that Valley Orchids is soon to be offered for sale. There are many rumours circulating, some correct, others way off base. This article is to acknowledge that it is definitely for sale.

Just for the record Linda & I always intended to at least, semi retire soon. Being a workaholic, we realized that I would not be able to relax & spend minimal time at the nursery, if we continued to live on site. We recently purchased a block of land at Blackwood Park, and are in the process of having a house built on it. It was intended for our son, Barrie to take over the operation of the nursery. However, Barrie's circumstances have changed – he now has a child, and need to spend more time with his family. Linda & I reluctantly made the decision to offer the nursery for sale.

We have not finalized how we will sell it yet, but it is likely that we will offer it as a going concern ), but realize that potential buyers are

Wayne, Sandra, Jeanne, Randall and I went to dinner at the Lockleys Hotel. Randall had a lot of work to do on his computer on Wednesday. Wednesday I packed the van with our show plants and the photography flash units and all the allied bits and pieces. Randall called in at 5pm and he followed me in to the city to meet Jeanne for dinner prior to going to the club meeting. Jeanne doesn't have enough time to come home first because she started a new job about four weeks ago and now works in the city.

I managed to get out of the judging room and see Randall's presentation on his trip to the Santa Barbara Orchid Show. I and all the members that I spoke to enjoyed the presentation.

Thursday we called in to see Moss and Rosemary Bray where had morning tea, We, Randall and I purchased a few of Moss' orchids, well Randall did I had to give moss an IOU. Wayne wasn't tempted because they weren't seedlings.

We then called in to John and Sandra Nicholls and Randall picked up some more orchids. John and Sandra have a Great Dane and she is a tail wagger, she caught Wayne a beauty, he spoke with a squeaky for the rest of the day.

The next stop was the bakery at Mount Compass and then to Nico De Jong's nursery. Nico was kind enough to spare his time to show us around. Nico and his family have achieved a lot in a short space of time. The nursery is on twenty two acres. The complex consists of open areas, areas under shade cloth and hot houses. Nico and his family have also planted about 2,500 shrubs and trees on the property. Nico also has a menagerie of animals; goats, sheep, pigs, rabbits and ponies. We then called in to see Graham Morris at Valley Orchids McLaren Vale. Whilst in the shade house I noticed a laelia anceps orchid and I purchased that and a cymbidium (IOU) again. Randall purchased another couple of cymbidiums We arrived home about 5.30pm we chatted for a while and Wayne then went home and just as I was saying goodbye to Randall Jeanne had just got off the bus from town and was also able to say goodbye to Randall. Randall's biggest problem was that he drove over in a Toyota Echo and he had a heap of plants plus his luggage, computer and camera to fit in the car. I would like to have seen just how he managed it all. I look forward to catching up with Randall in the not too distant future. I'm also glad to receive some form of communication from whoever is driving to or from Melbourne because it is a long way to drive on your own. Cont next page

At least two (2) people will be required at all times to monitor displays and man the trading table.

People who assist on the trading table or act as security for a minimum of four (4) hours will only pay 25% on sales, others are 33% with the exception of those working or in business, or special circumstances. This four (4) hours only applies from the Sunday to Friday inclusive.

Note: There will be no plants on the show bench at our club meeting Wednesday 25 August 2009 because of the Winter Show Westlakes

CHUCKIE'S VISIT 2010

It was good catching up with Randall again he is a pleasure to be around and his horticulture knowledge is unbelievable plus he is a good person...Randall is an academic but unlike most academics he treats everyone as an equal. Those of us that have spent time with him are in awe of his knowledge on anything and everything. Wayne Baylis was good enough to be our chauffeur during Randall's visit.

Randall arrived in Adelaide about 7.00pm on Monday 21st June 2010. Tuesday we went over to Wayne's place and had a look around. Wayne has about 450 cymbidiums in spike and all are seedlings.

Wayne, Randall and I then went up to Malcolm Osborn's place because Randall wanted to purchase a few plants (cyms.) We were amazed at how few spikes there were. It is the first time since visiting Malcolm over the last five years that his collection has had so few spikes.

We then went out to Nicky Zurcher's nursery. Nicky mainly grows Paphiopedilums (slipper orchids). After introducing Randall to Nicky we went into the first hot house and Nicky asked Randall if he grew paphiopedilums and Randall replied no that he mostly grows species cymbidiums and primary hybrids. As we were looking through the growing area Randall pointed to a couple of paphiopedilums and he named them and a few more. Nicky's jaw dropped about 2 inches he was amazed at Randall's knowledge of paphiopedilums and the hybrids. We then proceeded to Virginia where we had afternoon tea and then had a wander around.

property, stock, tissue culture laboratory), but realize that potential buyers are not numerous. It could be that we sell the stock, tissue culture laboratory and the property separately. There is already considerable interest in purchase of the stock. It will probably be offered as an expression of interest, but through an agent.

The sale has the potential to change the cymbidium growing scene throughout Australia. Already it is being under serviced, with many nurseries having closed down over many years & not replaced.

We will continue operation until the end of the current flowering season, then look at all possibilities.

We have thoroughly enjoyed our 11 years or so operating it, and thank all who have helped and supported us in that time. I will continue growing cymbidiums and support the club, but will have only a small growing area at our new house.

Many may want some of our special plants before we sell, but please be aware that it will be a busy and difficult time ahead for us. Please be patient and don't believe all the rumours that have already started circulating. I will try to keep club members informed about our future.

Graham Morris

CROCODILE TEARS

The poor mining industry!

Boy, am I glad that all the rubbish put out by the mining industry has stopped. The mining industry has got away with murder so to speak for as long as I have been involved with the metal and engineering industry. We as working tax payers pay at least 30% of our wages and as one earns more so does the tax threshold and we also have to pay 10% GST on just about everything.

Australian workers are amongst the highest taxed people in the world. I remember when I first became involved in the metal industry many, many moons ago, I was astounded to find out that the ore from Iron Knob and Iron Monarch which is one of the highest grades of iron ore in the world and is used for surgical instruments etc, was attracting tuppence a ton, about 1.75 cents and that was a ton, not tonne.

I found it hard to accept that we were virtually giving away our valuable resource and that has been the case for all oil and mining companies that pay little to no tax. They consider the miniscule royalties as a tax when it is not a tax. What the mining industry also forgets to inform us is of the massive concessions that the government give them (tax payer funded).

I'm disappointed with the government for their back-down on the super tax and it was a super tax and only applicable to huge profits. The now 25% tax will be about 22% and then they still get all the concessions. Successive governments, no matter who has been in power, have taxed working people beyond comprehension and its about time that taxpayers had a break and the government collect some form of tax on oil and all mining; let us the Australian people share in our natural resources have been virtually given away since mining began.

Peter Hall

WATER BABIES

Accidents can happen to anyone, whether you are an expert or a novice. This happened to me (snapping off new leads) when dividing a large cymbidium plant I snapped off a new lead without any root. Fortunately these accidents don't happen very often. In the past, after much mumbling and grumbling they would finish up in the bin.

Just over three years ago I snapped off a large lead without any roots, I wondered if it was possible to save it. With the advent of placing saucers under pots and being familiar with general plant propagation, but without much hope, I did the following:

Firstly, I dusted the cut with sulphur and then placed the lead into a 50mm round tube filled with my potting mixture. After that I used a preserving glass jar with an opening slightly smaller than the 50mm round tube, so that it wouldn't fall in. I then filled the jar with water to the base of the lead. For good measure I sprayed it with a fungicide and a dose of liquid fertilizer, placed it in an area with other small plants and expected to collect dead leaves within a few days. Surprisingly, it not only survived and with overhead watering, fertilizing and rain which filled the jar and tube with water. Untouched for three years, the lead grew, and produced a new one and this year it also produced a flower spike and another lead (the original lead has now dropped its leaves). Two years ago, the same thing happened again. Besides growing bigger the lead hasn't made any other advances.

All plants must be clean and virus free. Plants that do not conform shall be rejected by the show marshal and or the judges. The judge's decisions are final. Should any protest be lodged, the show marshal will call a panel to give a decision.

Helmuth Gerber.

REPOTTING THE WATER BABIES

Helmuth came around to our place, bringing with him his water babies. I took some photographs showing the leads in the tube/jars and the flower spike. The root system on both tubes had grown out through the bottom of the tubes and into the water space below. We knocked these leads out of the pots and the root systems were clean and white. This experiment contradicts most of what we believed is good growing culture for cymbidiums, let alone leads minus any root systems. The two year lead has produced a new lead.
